September 2015

The children at the Rio Bravo Activity Center recently returned to school. Our center staff has been working hard to help the children with homework, and scheduling activities throughout the month.

Among the activities, was a day with the Texas A & M Extension Program who taught the importance of hand washing. The children were asked to wash up and see how much germs remained on their hands through the use of a black light. It became fun, and a learning activity.

Then, on Grandparents' Day the children made a picture frame to give to their grandparents as a gift. Also, a popular festivity was on 16 de Septiembre, Mexico's Independence Day. Some children dressed up for the occasion and enjoyed home style bean and cheese tostadas prepared by the staff.
