Inspections:

All requests are subject to an on-site inspection of all existing and proposed development. No permit or other authorization will be issued until all adequate and necessary inspections have been performed. The property owner or representative must accompany inspection personnel to provide access to the property and to all structures within the property. All animals must be restrained for the safety of the inspection personnel. Inspections will not be performed where animals are not properly restrained.

Utility Service Connections:

Certificates of Compliance or similar authorizations by Webb County for the connection of public utility services shall not be issued until after the Floodplain Administrator has approved the structure and/or development in compliance with the Webb County Flood Damage Prevention Order and other applicable Federal, State or local law/regulation governing the connection of public utility services.

Flood Hazard Warning:

The flood hazard boundary maps and other flood data used by the Floodplain Administrator in evaluating flood hazards to proposed developments are considered reasonable and accurate for regulatory purposes and are based on the best available scientific and engineering data. On rare occasions, greater floods can and will occur and flood heights may be increased by man-made or natural causes. Any Exemption Certificate or Floodplain Development Permit that may be issued by the Floodplain Administrator will not imply that developments will be free from flooding or flood damage. Any issuance of an Exemption Certificate or Floodplain Development Permit shall not create liability on the part of Webb County, the Floodplain Administrator or any officer or employee of Webb County in the event flooding or flood damage does occur.

Exemption Certificates:

An Exemption Certificate may be issued for a development that is found to be located outside the floodplain boundary but it does not guarantee that the development area will not flood. Said certificate only certifies that the floodplain management regulations are not applicable to the development.

Unauthorized Development

Any development that occurred without the required permits or other authorizations shall be subject to regulatory fines as set out in the annual Fee Schedule adopted by the Webb County Commissioners Court for floodplain management. The Floodplain Administrator shall withhold the release of any permit or authorization until all assessed fees and fines are paid. It shall be the landowner's responsibility to undertake any necessary remediation action to correct violations resulting from such unauthorized development including, but not limited to, the removal of structures, elimination of fill, or other actions to bring the property back to pre-existing conditions. Floodplain permits or other authorizations shall not be issued for new construction, substantial improvement, or other development until all violations of unauthorized development has been remediated and accepted by the Floodplain Administrator.

Other Regulatory Issues & Greater Standards

The issuance of a floodplain determination, development permit, or other similar authorization is generally based upon the community's floodplain management regulations; however, other Federal, State or local permits may be required and may place mandatory duties on other officials or agencies. When mandatory duties are placed on other officials, the Floodplain Administrator will withhold action until the other official or agency has performed the prerequisite duty.

The Floodplain Administrator's issuance of permitting or other authorizations do not exempt the property owner/applicant from any deed restrictions, subdivision regulations or other covenant regarding real estate. The owner/applicant is responsible for the investigation of such information. Where the Webb County Flood Damage Prevention Order and another law, order, ordinance, easement, covenant, or deed restriction conflict or overlap, whichever imposes the more stringent restrictions shall prevail.
